Question related to:  Annex: Article:	EN/prEN: EN1078:2012+A1:2012 & EN1080:2013 ----- Clause:	Other:
Key words: Bicycle helmets, children
Question: If a manufacturer asks which of EN 1078 or EN 1080 should be used for conformity assessment of bicycle helmets for children, which standard should be recommended?
Solution: EN 1078.  Reason: EN 1078 has no age limit for its scope of application. Whilst EN 1080 indicates a suitability of such helmets for bicycling, VG1 believe this is intended as more of an incidental use rather than primary use.
